

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Isn't buying organic produce expensive?

Learning Outcome

Describe ways of solving problems and getting things done in work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- Do you buy organic food? Why or why not?
- How important is buying organic food to people in your country?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about domestic activities.
- I can explain how to do things.
- I can respond to difficult questions and encourage agreement.

Let's Explore!

Sally wants to check out and do other errands.

* When you "check out" at the supermarket, you take your food to the cashier and pay for it.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Sally: Hey Peter! What are you doing here? Weren't you supposed to be going away on a business trip?
- Peter: Yes. I was supposed to be there yesterday, but my flight was canceled. The airline was supposed to reschedule for that day but couldn't. Isn't that always the way things happen? So, I'm getting some grocery shopping done and running some errands.
- Sally: Don't you feel that you're overdoing it, though? Your cart seems awfully full.
- Peter: The office is going to shift the meetings to the end of next week. I'm going to have all this eaten by then. I wanted to get the organic stuff. The chemicals and pesticides they use on most produce can cause health problems.
- Sally: I agree. Unfortunately you pay a lot more for it. Many people have to choose cheaper healthier options. Don't you agree that puts the customer in a difficult position?
- Peter: I know it does. I'm spending extra to get healthier food. I'd rather have the money.
- Sally: Well, isn't that more important than money?
- Peter: I guess. Where are you off to next?
- Sally: I broke a heel yesterday, so I have to go to the shoemaker to get it fixed. There's one nearby.
- Peter: I was going to get my jacket cleaned. I spilled something on it today and I need to take it with me next week.
- Sally: Let's check out, and get those things done. You can make me dinner.
- Peter: Are you sure?

Let's Practice!

Peter and Sally in the grocery store ...

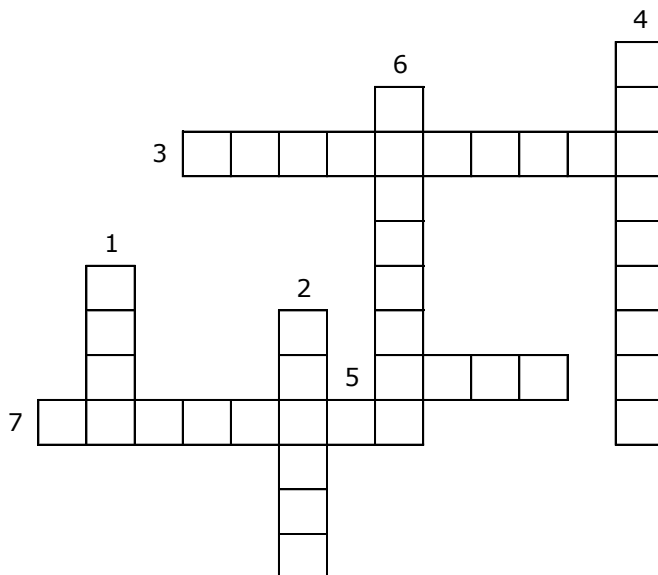

Instructions: Read the sentences. Complete the crossword.

Down

1. Weren't you supposed to be going away on a business _____?
2. I was supposed to be there yesterday, but my _____ was canceled.
4. Don't you feel that you're _____ it, though?
6. So I'm getting some grocery _____ done and running some errands.

Across

3. The airline was supposed to _____ for that day but couldn't.
5. I spilled something on it today and I _____ to take it with me next week.
7. I'm _____ extra to get healthier food.

Let's Practice!

Peter goes grocery shopping ...

Instructions: Proofread the sentences. Correct the mistake. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. Weren't you supposed to be go away on a business trip?
2. Aren't that always the way things happen?
3. Don't you feeling that you're overdoing it, though?
4. Don't you agreeing that puts the customer in a difficult position?
5. Weren't that more important than money?

Extension Activity

Make up a survey on buying produce.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Do a little research on why people think they should eat organic food.
- Now write up 10 survey questions to ask people about buying fruit and vegetables.
- Find out what they buy, where they buy it, how often they buy it, and if they buy organic food.
- Ask people in your family, a friend and some people in your class.
- Discuss what you have found out with another student.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I make up a survey about shopping habits.

☐ ☐

I ask 10 people my survey questions.

☐ ☐

I discuss my findings with a partner.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- to overdo (verb): to do too much e.g. Don't you feel that you're overdoing it, though?
- cart (noun): a small car pushed by hand
e.g. Your cart seems awfully full.
- to take my chances (expression): to take a risk
e.g. I'll take my chances!
- shoemaker (noun): this person fixes shoes
e.g. I was going to go to the shoemaker to get it fixed.
- to run errands (expression): to take a short trip to buy things/do things e.g. I'm getting some grocery shopping done and running some errands.
- organic (adjective): food that is grown free from pesticides and chemicals e.g. I wanted to get the organic stuff.
- to reschedule (verb): to schedule for another time or day
e.g. The airline was supposed to reschedule for that day but couldn't.

Learning Points

Explaining How Things Were Done

You use be supposed to and was going to to explain how things were done.

You use the structure be supposed to when you want to talk about expectations, obligations or arrangements. You can use this structure using the Past tense to talk about things that you were obligated to do, but didn't or couldn't do.

The structure is:

Subject + to be + supposed to + verb

I was supposed to be there yesterday, but my flight was canceled.

*Pronunciation tip:

When you say be supposed to, you link the /d/ and /t/ sounds together.

Like this: Be suppose_to

You use the structure was going to when you want to talk about things that you had planned or intended to do.

The structure is:

was/were + going to + verb

I was going to go to the shoemaker to get it fixed.

Examples:

- Weren't you supposed to be going away on a business trip?
- The airline was supposed to reschedule for that day but couldn't.
- I was going to get my jacket cleaned too.
- Let's check out, and do the errands we were going to do.

Learning Points

Negative Questions To Encourage Agreement

Negative questions have a different meaning than regular questions.

A negative question can be used to ask for confirmation of something you believe to be true.

- Don't you feel that you're overdoing it?
- (= I think you feel you are overdoing it.)

With this type of question, you anticipate that the listener will agree with you and answer 'yes'.

Examples:

- Well, isn't that more important than money?
- Isn't that always the way things happen?
- Don't you agree that puts the customer in a difficult position?

